

2024 FOCUS AREAS

STRENGTHENING THE TOTAL ARMY

AUSA advocates in support of these Focus Areas for the Total Army and our membership:

- Total Army: Regular, National Guard, Reserve, Army Families, Civilians, Survivors, Caregivers, Veterans/Soldiers for Life.
- AUSA Membership: More than 1 million members – Individuals, National and Community Partners, Association Partners.
- Total Army readiness is essential for national security.

On-time Appropriations and Authorizations

- Enact the Fiscal Year (FY) 2025 Defense, Military Construction and Veterans Affairs appropriations bills, as well as the other appropriations bills, and the National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA) by October 1, 2024.
 - This is critical to national security, which requires a whole-of-government approach.
- Support Total Army unfunded priorities and provide necessary and timely funding to support Army requirements—no less than 3–5 percent real growth.
 - This would improve readiness, increase lethality, enhance deterrence, mitigate inflation, and improve warfighting capability in an increasingly dangerous world.

Whether it is defending the country at home or overseas, our nation counts on the United States Army to be the first line of defense.

Secretary Christine E. Wormuth
25th Secretary of the U.S. Army

Warfighting

- Enact timely, adequate, and predictable funding for the Total Army to improve lethality and enhance warfighting capability across the full spectrum of conflict.
- Support programs to build effective, cohesive teams and develop capable leaders.
- Provide resources necessary for the Total Army to continue to be the best trained and best led force in the world.

Delivering Ready Combat Formations

- Provide funding so the Army can field new capabilities smoothly and quickly throughout the total force.
- Improve Total Army infrastructure to strengthen readiness, quality of life, recruitment, and retention.
- Enhance strategic readiness and power projection capabilities of the joint force through replenishing and expanding Army prepositioned equipment, improving intra-theater maneuver, strategic sealift, and strategic airlift.
- Secure the defense supply chain and support a resilient and expandable defense industry and acquisition system.

Strengthening the Profession

- Enable Soldiers, leaders, and units to strengthen the profession through realistic training and leadership/education programs.
- Fully resource programs to prevent death by suicide, sexual assault, harassment, and provide support to survivors.
- Ensure compensation, benefits, and quality of life programs for Soldiers, families, and Army Civilians to support resilience and retention.
- Enhance support for Veterans/Soldiers-for-Life, survivors, and caregivers to reinforce recruiting and retention and ensure members of the Total Army receive the benefits earned.

Continuous Transformation

- Support initiatives to improve recruitment.
- Fully fund efforts to improve lethality, become more mobile, and enhance innovation.
- Provide additional resources and authorities to Army programs to increase momentum of transformation efforts at every echelon, leverage emerging technologies, improve near-term readiness, and ensure future dominance.
- Streamline Foreign Military Sales to improve capabilities and interoperability of allies and partners while supporting the defense industrial base and safeguarding sensitive technologies.
